

Reflections on Queensland's Co-regulatory Authority

The Hon. Cameron Dick MP was appointed Queensland Minister for Health and Ambulance Services in February, 2015. As a graduate in Law, Commerce and Arts from The University of Queensland, a Masters of Law from the University of Cambridge and a practising barrister before entering Parliament, Minister Dick is eminently qualified to address the Medico-Legal Society of Queensland. First elected to the Queensland Parliament in 2009, he was immediately appointed as Queensland Attorney-General and Minister for Industrial Relations, a rare honour for a first term MP. He later served as the Minister for Education and Industrial Relations. During the 1990s Cameron Dick had the exceptional opportunity of working in Tuvalu, a small island nation in the South Pacific, as part of the Australian Volunteers Abroad program (now Australian Volunteers International). He served as the Crown Counsel and as the nation's Attorney-General, actually appointed Acting Attorney-General at the age of 27.
